Turkish Economy and Banking System in 2011

I. Turkish Economy and Banking System in 2011

1. General Outlook

1.1. Global Economy

Uncertainties and risks rather high due to instabilities in the international markets.

Global crisis turned to debt crisis: By second half of the year, following a brief period of recovery in the global economy, uncertainties and risks increased. The main underlying reasons behind this in the EU member states and some other developed countries were the continuing structural problems of financial institutions, high ratio of the public sector borrowing requirement to the gross domestic product (gdp), the difficulties faced in rolling over of high outstanding domestic debt stemming from the decrease in international credit ratings, and lack of confidence towards the existing economic policies.

The global financial crisis that changed its characteristics since its start to date became compliant with the definition proper of a "debt crisis" owing to the high level of outstanding public debt in the developed countries. The ratio of outstanding public debt to gdp is expected to be around 107 percent in the developed countries, 90 percent in the EU member states, and 36 percent in the developing countries by the end of 2012.

*Forecast.

Unconventional measures to be continued: In almost every country, as part of the faced extraordinary situation, extraordinary measures defined the current agenda. The central banks of the developed countries continued to provide liquidity support to markets, while the interest rates were tried to be kept at lower levels, and the governments continued to provide public sector support to the markets in order to prevent a systemic risk in the financial sector.

The risk appetite of investors remained low especially towards some developed country economies, thus resulting in an increase in their risk premiums. In the EU, the risk premiums of some high credit rating countries exceeded those of developing countries.

The probability of a long-term stagnation coupled with expectations over high inflation rates occupied top of the agenda, prevented the improvement of long-term expectations, and therefore, creation of stabilized environment for economic activities.

Global growth slowed down: As different from the past, in the current period, when every economy integrated to international markets is affected significantly and multidimensionally, the growth performances of the developing countries limited deepening of the crisis. However, both the slow-down in foreign trade volume and the dual speed of the international capital began to affect the developing countries negatively.

Both the growth of global economy and the expectations on trading volume were revised downward by the international organizations. In 2011, global economic growth was 3.8 percent, while it was 1.6 percent in developed countries and 6.4 percent in the developing countries, respectively. Trading volume increased by 7 percent globally.

Source: IMF, FMU, April 2012, Turkstat.

Expectations for 2012: Estimates for 2012 indicate also a slow-down in the growth rate of developing countries. Growth rate is forecasted to be 3.5 percent for global economy, 5.7 percent for developing countries and 1.4 percent for the developed countries. Euro-zone economy is forecasted to contract by 0.3 percent. Global trading volume is expected to increase by 4 percent in 2012 compared to 7 percent increase in 2011.

Stricter measures for financial institutions: With a view to revive the growth of global economy, initiatives focused on exit strategies continue also through participation and coordination of international organizations. The top agenda comprises of gradual slow-down of monetary and fiscal expansion, effective refunctioning of the international credit markets, restructuring of financial institutions together with common rules for their supervision. Among the new regulations pertaining to financial institutions, the primary focus topics are more effective supervision, better risk management, increasing the capital adequacy ratios through redefinition of capital, and deleveraging in banking.

1.2. Turkish Economy

Economic activities accelerated: Turkish economy continued to grow with a higher pace at 8.5 percent in 2011. Rapid increase in the domestic demand supported the growth in line with the increase in private sector fixed capital investments and consumption demand.

Savings ratio fell further: The ratio of domestic savings to gdp was 13.3 percentages and it continued to decline in private sector, but increased in public sector. The savings gap to gdp exceeded over 9 percent, despite a decline in public sector savings gap.

Unemployment rate dropped: Due to the economic recovery in 2011, by December 2011, unemployment rate was recorded as 9.8 percent, by a declining of 1.6 percentage points compared to the same period of the previous year.

^{*}Forecast.

Public sector borrowing requirement decreased: The improvement in public sector balance was supported by a lower deficit than the forecasted budget balance, and the ratio of the public sector borrowing requirement to gdp remaining at limited levels. The ratio of outstanding public sector debt to gdp continued to decline.

As a result, the ratio of public sector demand from the banking sector continued to came. On the other hand, the resource offer of the banking sector for private sector continued to expand as the sector continued to borrow from abroad. In the meantime, real interest rates remained at low levels, and even became minus in the second half of the year.

Measures for slowdown: In order to limit the uncertainties arising from international markets and narrowing the domestic savings deficit, comprehensive regulations were introduced in monetary and banking policy for slowing down the growth of loans. Furthermore, the loan growth rate adjusted for exchange rate increases was limited by 25 percent by the end of 2011.

| T. Assets | 20 | 21 | 21 | 13 |

^{*} BAT calculation from BRSA figures.

Slowdown in loans: The cost of both Turkish Lira and foreign exchange funding increased because of monetary measures. On the other hand banking measures moved downwards the capital adequacy rate, thereby leading to an increase in cost of capital, and causing an increase in lending interest rates. As a result of the rapid depreciation of Turkish Lira against the foreign currencies, the rate of growth in loans in foreign exchange slowed rapidly down. After adjustment of exchange rate changes, the annual growth rate of total loans decreased to 31 percent during the first quarter and 23 percent by the end of the year.

Inflation is up: Due to depreciation of Turkish Lira and increases in prices of alcoholic beverages, tobacco and foodstuffs, the consumer price inflation realized above the target as 10.5 percent, by the end of the year. Due to increasing inflation rate, worsening inflation expectations, lowering demand for Turkish Lira, the Central Bank took measures containing the growth in monetary base.

Differentiation in monetary policy: During the second half, policy rates were increased and the growth in net domestic assets was limited, while net foreign assets were reduced through foreign exchange sales. Foreign exchange reserves of the Central Bank (excluding gold) increased by USD 12 billion in the first half, and declined by USD 14.4 billion in the second half, compared to the end of the previous year. An important reason of decline in foreign exchange reserves was the relative slowdown of capital inflows compared to current accounts deficit.

Current account deficit widened: Current account deficit increased by 65 percent reaching 10 percent of gdp. In the second half, foreign currency supply was slower than foreign currency demand. On the other hand, the limiting effects of monetary and banking measures on balance of payments took effect in the last quarter of the year, while the current account deficit accelerated.

The ratio of outstanding external debt to gdp remained the same: Outstanding external debt increased by 5 percent to USD 306.6 billion, while its ratio to gdp remained same at 39.7 percent level. The ratio of public sector outstanding external debt to gdp was 12 percent.

1.3. Banking Sector

Banking sector supported the economic activity.

Growth in the banking sector: With reference to main banking indicators, with a successful performance during the global crisis, the banking sector continued its growth in real terms also in 2011, and supported the financing of economic activity. Total assets of deposit, development and investment banks increased by 9 percent in real terms, and its ratio to gdp reached 90 percent. The share of loans in total assets rose to 56 percent, while that of total deposits increased to 99 percent.

Credit risk: Credit portfolio continued to diversify. Loans were comprised of 68 percent corporate loans and 32 percent individual loans. The share of SME loans in total loans was 23 percent. Credit risk continued to fall down both nominally and in terms of its ratio to total loans. The ratio of non-performing loans to total loans was recorded at 2.7 percent level.

Deposits are the most important resource: The growth rate of total deposits having a share of 57 percent in financing of balance sheet continued to slow down while repo volume grew rapidly. Though still having a low share in resources, a remarkable increase was seen in issue of bonds and bills by banks. The ratio of non-deposit resources, comprised of repo, foreign borrowing, bonds and bills to total assets is at 25 percent level.

Shot-term deposits' maturity: Average maturity of total deposits increased from 2.4 months to 2.9 months, stemming particularly from Turkish Lira deposits.

Balance sheet mainly composed of Turkish Lira items: 69 percent of total assets and 64 percent of total resources were in Turkish Lira.

Heavy burden of banks: Total burden imposed by monetary and banking regulations on banking sector only in 2011 is estimated to be around TL 8 billion. Net profit margin fell down: Net profit margin of banking sector decreased by 10 percent.

Shareholders' equity growth slowed down: In tandem with decline in contributions of profit to growth of shareholders' equity, shareholders' equity declined by 3 percent in real terms. On the other hand, within the framework of new banking regulations, the rise in risk weightings of some loan types and accelerated depreciation of Turkish Lira against foreign currencies led to a decline of 2.6 percentage points in capital adequacy ratio to 16.6 percent.

Off-balance sheet growth: In non-cash loans, non-cash loans rose by 83 percent to TL 1.6 trillion due to high rate of increase in the other commitments item,

Market value of financial institutions declined: The fall in profit volume also affected the market value of financial institutions traded in Istanbul Stock Exchange (ISE). Thus the market value of these institutions fell by 43 percent compared to the end of previous year, and their share in total market value was recorded as 32 percent representing a decline of 5 percentage points.

1.4. International Comparison

Capital adequacy ratio remains at high levels: In Turkey, capital adequacy ratio and return on equity of the banking sector are at high levels compared to other developing countries.

1.6. Mid-term Program and Forecasts For 2012-2014 Period:

Mid-Term Program contains forecasts on main macro aggregates for 2012-2014 period. The Program gives priority to sustainability of growth and rise of savings ratio. Accordingly, gdp is targeted to be 4 percent in 2012, and 5 percent in 2013 and 2014.

Main Economic Aggregates *

|---|------|------|------|
| Gdp (in real terms, percentage) | 4.0 | 5.0 | 5.0 |
| Current account balance/gdp (perc.) | -8.0 | -7.5 | -7.0 |

| Public debt stock /gdp (EU definition, perc.) | 37.0 | 35.0 | 32.0 |

Source: Ministry of Development.

*Forecast.

The ratio of current accounts deficit to gdp is estimated to decrease to 8 percent in 2012, and this trend is expected to continue in the subsequent years as well.

The ratio of public sector balance deficit (primary balance) to gdp and the ratio of public debt stock to gdp are foreseen to decrease during this period.

The fall in unemployment rate is also expected to continue. As a matter of fact, unemployment rate fell down compared to the end of 2010, and it was 9.8 percent in 2011.

1.7. The Outlook of Banking Sector by Selected Indicators

1.7.1. Growth

Balance sheet size of deposit banks recorded an average growth of 21 percent in 2011. Out of 32 deposit banks active in the banking sector, 18 banks grew at a rate higher than the average of the sector. The balance sheet size of 11 deposit banks increased below 21 percent, while balance sheet of 3 deposit banks contracted.

2.2. Employment and Wages

Unemployment decreased, and real wages remained the same: Due to the increase in fixed capital investments and economic activity, the unemployment rate fell as a result of growth in labor force demand despite the increase in labor force and labor force participation rate. According to the figures published by Turkstat, total labor force supply was 26.3 million, while total employment was 23.7 million by December 2011. Total number of workforce increased by 700 thousand. Besides this increase, the labor force participation rate also rose. In the same period, total employment increased by 1 million. Accordingly, the unemployed reduced by around 450 thousand to 2.6 million compared to the previous year.

According to the forecasts of the Ministry of Development, real labor cost of public sector workers and civil servants increased, while minimum wage decreased in 2011.

2.3. Inflation

Inflation rate exceeded the target: Consumer prices inflation (CPI) realized in 4 to 4.5 percent range on annual basis during first half of 2011 and below the target level of 5.5 percent. However, it increased during second half of the year depending on the price and tax adjustments on public sector products, the acceleration of depreciation of Turkish Lira against foreign currencies, as well as the increase in food and energy prices. CPI inflation realized as 10.5 percent at the end of the year.

Inflation (annual percentage change)

Producer Price Index (PPI) increased by 13.3 percent annually. Annual average increase rates were 6.5 percent for CPI and 11.1 percent for PPI, respectively.

2.5. Monetary Aggregates

2.5.1. Monetary Policy

Emphasis on financial stability: The Central Bank highlighted the importance of slowing the growth of domestic demand in order to limit the adverse effects of imbalances in the global markets on the Turkish economy. In this context, new measures for the implementation of monetary policy were declared with a view to limit savings deficit growth through slowing down of the increase in domestic demand while also discouraging the short-term capital inflows.

Monetary expansion in the second half of the year: Some changes were made in monetary policy implementations during the second half of 2011, along with the uncertainties and increasing risks in the international markets, taking into account both the acceleration of devaluation of Turkish Lira and deterioration in inflationist expectations. The required reserves rates were lowered though to a limited extent, and the reserves in Turkish Lira were allowed to be held in foreign currencies though partially. On the other hand, interest corridor was expanded, and price of liquidity provided to the market was raised. Upper band of interest corridor was determined as 12.5 percent.

Option for the required reserves: The holding of required reserves partially in foreign currency supported the Central Bank reserves.

However, through partial meeting of the increase in Fx demand by an increase in Fx supply by the Central Bank resulted in a decrease in the reserves. In parallel with this, net domestic assets decreased. Due to these factors, monetary base decreased. The rate of increase in monetary base slowed down to 11 percent by the end of the year.

Central Bank Fx reserves increased by USD 12.1 billion to USD 92.8 billion during the first half of 2011, and decreased to USD 78.3 billion by the end of the second half of 2011. The Central Bank's net foreign currency position was USD 42.4 billion by the end of the year.
